DIES IN BLAZING BIPLANE

North Hoosick.

Drew, Seeking an Aerial Joy Killed in 200-Foot Fall.

Lima, Ohio, Juen 12.-Andrew Drew, an aviator pupil of Orville Wright, met his death here this evening in a blazing biplane. Drew went up with a desire to take "just a little joy ride"—his last words to his partner in a machine which he had not thoroughly tested. His partner in a local school of aviation, J. C. Brabazon, had urged him not to make the trip.

Drew fell 200 feet, his falling like a torch hurled from the sky. He was dead when Brabazon and several workmen at the Lima State Hospital pulled his body from under the wreck.

"Let's take just one little joy ride," he laughed, "and then I'll go and eat with you," said Drew. Brabazon demurred on the ground that it was getting too dark to fly and there were no places suitable for a good landing.

The wrecked machine was used by Calvin Rogers when he made the last lap of his coast-to-coast flight two years ago.

The human brain also requires three vital elements to put forth thought-water, albumen and Phosphate of Potash.

In the Brain, as in the Battery, let a single element become weakened from yesterday's use and lessened activity follows. Therefore, in order to keep a good working brain, or add to its power, one absolucely must use food which contains albumen and Phosphate of Potasu.

Why not do a bit of thinking now?

Water and albumen exist plentifully in every-day food, but Phosphate of Potash is often lacking.

That missing element exists freely in the outer coating of wheat and barley, but the miller of white bread flour throws it out because it makes his flour brown instead of white.
